4. CAN / COULD

CAN

We use can for:

ability possibility permission

I can swim. → Puedo nadar.

Can I go to the doctor? → ¿Puedo ir al médico?

COULD

Could can be used for:

ability in the past

polite requests

When I was five, I could swim.

Could you help me, please?

Structure

Can/Could + subject + base verb?

✅ Can you help me?
✅ Could you repeat that, please?

2. She _____ sick last week. (feel)

3. We _____ soccer two days ago. (play)

4. He _____ medicine yesterday. (take)

5. They _____ at home last night. (stay)

7. PAST SIMPLE vs. PAST CONTINUOUS

This is an important difference.

PAST SIMPLE

Use it for a completed action.

- I watched TV last night.

°PAST CONTINUOUS

Use it for an action that was happening at a specific moment in the past.

was/were + verb-ing

- I was watching TV at 8:00 p.m.

Together

We often use both tenses when one action interrupts another.

Structure:

Past Continuous + when + Past Simple

- I was sleeping when my mother called me.

The longer action = was sleeping
The shorter/interruption = called

Another example:

- They were playing soccer when it started to rain.

were playing → action in progress
started → interruption

Remember

PAST CONTINUOUS
-What was happening?

PAST SIMPLE
- What happened?

Practice

Choose the correct form:

1. I was studying / studied when my friend called.

2. She was sleeping / slept when the phone rang.
